t 919.835.4029

Steven Wilson focuses his practice on construction, development, and real estate litigation. He enjoys working on challenging issues and advocating for clients in a variety of forums.

Steven earned his law degree from the University of North Carolina School of Law, where he served on the North Carolina Law Review. While at law school, Steven interned at the Office of the Public Defender in Wake County, practiced in UNC's Military and Veterans Law Clinic, and spent a summer as a law clerk at Parker Poe.

Steven focused on history and politics at the University of Oxford in the United Kingdom, where he received his undergraduate and master's degrees. Before joining Parker Poe, Steven was a lecturer at the University of Oxford, teaching politics at St. Anne's, Worcester, and St. Catherine's colleges.

Steven serves on the board of Claymakers, a hub for the ceramic arts in North Carolina, and is committed to supporting his community through pro bono assistance and volunteering.
